

Clemson International Internship & Professional Development Program

Clemson University's International Internship & Professional Development Program provides students with an opportunity to gain valuable skills in a full-time professional work setting while also experiencing the dynamics of a different culture. At the intersection of these experiences lies an explosion of development – both in student competency as well as in the global mindset.

Clemson International Interns work full-time 4 days/week for 8 weeks during the summer. The program currently has 5 location options: Barcelona, Spain; Bristol, England; Dublin, Ireland; Santiago, Chile; and Sydney, Australia.

The accompanying professional development course consists of assignments which allow students to reflect upon and articulate their experience so they can leverage the global experience in an interview or professional setting. The aim of the course is to provide participants with a robust experiential education + a re-acclimation learning module designed for seamless incorporation into each student's career development framework.
