Yesterday's New York Times brought study abroad to the front page of national consciousness, and Forum members are speaking up. Join the conversation and see updates at:

The Forum is continuing to advocate for members with the media, as The Chronicle of Higher Education and InsideHigherEd.com follow the story.

The Standards Committee, led by Michael Steinberg, has resolved to meet in the fall to revise the Standards of Good Practice in the areas of ethics, transparency, and marketing practices.

In the short term, the Forum will be developing and distributing talking points for use with campus leadership and the media.
